Clinics

Clinic 1: 9:00-9:45 am Clinician: Carl Heimberger

Scenery Made Easy

Adding scenery to your layout can be as simple or complex as you want to make it, but it should not just be an afterthought; instead, scenery should be an integral part of any layout design. This clinic will cover why scenery should be considered during the layout planning process, and how to use basic techniques to create various landforms, rock outcroppings, stream, etc. I will also demonstrate how to use and apply various ground covers, shrubbery materials and discuss how to make trees.

Clinic 2: 9:50-10:35 am Clinician: Trow Davis

Using Hunterline Stains for Weathering

This clinic will familiarize modelers with the benefits of Hunterline alcohol-based stains for use on wood and other materials, to get incredibly realistic weathering. Clinician Trow Davis will demonstrate how to select from Hunterline's three "family groups" of colors: Brown, Rust, and Red, and then how to select the three complimentary stains in the color group, for the best results. Trow will explain his chart which shows which stains go well together and this chart will be provided to all the clinic attendees.

Clinic 3 - 10:45-11:30 am Clinician: Joel Morse

Creating a Prototype based rolling stock fleet

This clinic demonstrates the process Clinician Joel Morse used to develop a prototype based rolling stock fleet for his proto-freelanced New York, Ontario and Western Railway, and how you can build a fleet appropriate for your railroad. The clinic will cover what kind of information forms the basis of a believable prototype-based fleet, what research is needed to find that information and how that information can be used and interpreted for your railroad.
